FATHERLY WAYS

Our Heavenly Father reveals His nature through His creatures

A macaw father is very, very protective of his nest. If another animal tries to steal the eggs, he will begin to squawk loudly. He becomes so angry that his face turns red! (Read about God's fierce love in Exodus 14:15 through 15:18.)

An ostrich father will risk his life, pretending to be injured, in order to lead a lion away from a nest of eggs. Once the chicks have hatched, he uses his wings to protect them from the sun and the rain. (Read Psalm 91.)

The stickleback builds a nest for his young. If the baby fish wander away, he gently gathers them in his mouth and brings them back to the nest. (Read Isaiah 40:11.)

The beaver makes a great husband and dad. He stays with Mom for life! And he is very involved in raising and teaching their children. (Read Isaiah 54:5.)
